

Lake Charles Scion eSports is proud to finally announce the players who received an invitation to play in the Live StarCraft 2 event at the Lake Charles Scion eSports Thanksgiving Open 2013:

HuK, a Canadian Protoss player representing team Evil Geniuses

PuCK, an American Protoss player representing team Root

CatZ, a Peruvian Zerg player representing team Root

Destiny, an American Zerg player

LzGaMeR, an American Zerg player from Baton Rouge, Louisiana

Ian, a Taiwanese Zerg player representing team Yoe Flash Wolves qxc, an American Terran player representing team Complexity

HelloKitty, an American Protoss player representing team Fnatic

The rest of the sixteen player live event will be populated via two round online qualifier. These rounds will be played Friday, 22 November and Saturday, 23 November starting at 8PM Central US Standard Time (UTC -06:00).

The online qualifier round one will be eight groups of four players, standard "up-down" group play, with best-of-three matches and two players from each group advancing to the next round. Each game will be observed by a representative of Lake Charles Scion eSports. The games will be coordinated from the battle.net channel "Lake Charles Scion"

The matchups within the groups are as follows:

Group A: Apocalypse, WarreN, Hunterxx, Jellyfish

Group B: MaSsan, Siphonn, Clash, HellsChild

Group C: TriMaster, Maverick, SpOiL, BlazeMost

Group D: Sasquatch, Hiei, HydraWang, esteca

Group E: Has, EgJaeD, Petraeus, OceanStorm

Group F: Hui, DreamKiller, Mudkip, FrayaMonsteR

Group G: Slam, Oobios, SPeCiaLiST, ensignlee

Group H: Sage, ErEvilSD, Willy, Smaug

Players eliminated from the Pro Division during the qualifying rounds will be automatically entered into the Amateur Tournament. Amateur Tournament registration will remain open until further notice or all 64 spots are filled.